THE RAMBLE

By Robert Fulton

Mon — Fri 10am-3pm

Sat — Sun 12pm-4pm

I've got to be honest—I get tired of looking at the news, and social media, and seeing people fighting with one another. It seems like no matter the issue, no matter the venue, many people tend to react first instead of think. There's nothing wrong with being passionate, or having strong opinions and views on things. I certainly do, and I know you do too. But in all of those things, don't let your passions take away your peace.

Check these out:

“Know this, my beloved brothers: let every person be quick to hear, slow to speak, slow to anger; for the anger of man does not produce the righteousness of God.” - James 1 :19

“Turn away from evil and do good; seek peace and pursue it.” - Psalm 34

While there's nothing wrong at all with having opinions (even very strong ones), and definitely nothing wrong with defending truth, always be quick to listen. Slow to speak. Truly listen to the other person, and even though your mind may not change, you'll be fostering a peaceful discussion, and in doing so, glorifying Christ. Just remember, Don't lose peace for the sake of a passion.
